FALL OF TIENTSIN IS EXPECTED MOMENTARILY

NATIONALIST ARMY OF CHINA ON THE ADVANCE NORTH

GENERAL CHIANG KAI SHEK
MEETING LITTLE OPPO-SITION

HAD RECENT ENGAGEMENTS WITH JAPANESE IN SHANTUNG

Shanghai, May 14.—(UP)—Advance of the Chinese nationalist army to the north continued today, and the fall of Tientsin was expected momentarily.

General Chiang Kai Shek, nationalist leader, whose most recent engagements have been with the Japanese in Shantung province, was reported to be marching north with little or no opposition from the northern armies. The northerners were reported withdrawing from their last lines of defense.

It was believed here that, simultaneous with Chiang's entrance into Tientsin, another southern leader, General Feng Yu Hsiang, would take his forces into Peking. In that event, observers believed, General Chang Tso Lin, the northern leader, would withdraw from Peking to Manchuria.

Fresh complications were seen in such moves, Japanese militarists already are in Manchuria and the Japanese government repeatedly has emphasized that Japan is in a "special position" there and in Mongolia. Should Chang Tso Lin retreat to his stronghold of Manchuria and should the southern armies advance there after him, it was believed Tokyo could not remain inactive and that it was likely Japanese military contingents would be placed at strategic positions in Manchuria.

At the same time Russia, because of her geographical position, maintains a close watch on all affairs in the Manchurian province.

Moreover, Russia is interested in the Chinese eastern railroad, operating through Manchuria, and would watch any military moves involving it. The situation in Shantung province is quiet.

Peking, May 14.—The attitude of Chang Tso Lin, the Chinese northern general, today was the center of interest in both the Chinese civil war and the present difficulties with the Japanese.

Chang recently made a conciliatory move and announced he would not oppose the southerners because there was peril from outside sources. Many believed that would lead to a merger of the Chinese troops—southerners and northerners.

However, the northern leader has received no reply from General Chiang Kai Shek, who is leading the southern advance.

Thus far, General Chang, since his announcement, has made no opposition to the southern advance but Saturday said he would fight unless there was some reply to his peace overtures.

Meantime withdrawal of the northern troops from all fronts continued. Many hoped the conciliation between the two forces might be arranged and thus prevent any engagements in the vicinity of Peking and Tientsin, the next major cities in the path of the approaching southern army.

Reports here today indicated the situation in Tientsin was quiet with the Japanese still in control of the city.

Tokio, May 14.—Believing capture of the northern capital within their grasp, the Chinese nationalist troops already have made plans for foreign representation.

Dr. C. C. Wu, who has been delegate to Paris of the southern government, will be appointed minister to the United States, official advices said. Wan Ching Wei will be appointed minister to Great Britain.

The nationalists expect United States' support, it was learned.

The nationalists are prepared to fight the Japanese, who have concentrated expeditionary forces in Tientsin after a week of vigorous engagement, in event of unreasonable demands.

Shanghai, May 14.—The Nanking—or southern China—government has sent a note to President Coolidge asking America's attitude towards the present situation in Tientsin, where the Chinese nationalists and Japanese expeditionary forces have recently been fighting.

The note was intended merely to

MELLON'S PRAISE OF HOOVER GIVEN 2 INTERPRETATIONS

IN HOOVER CAMP IT IS TAKEN
AS AN OPEN ENDORSE-
MENT

ANTI-HOOVER GROUP SHOWS
MELLON CLINGING TO "DRAFT-COOLIDGE" IDEA

Washington, May 14.—(UP)—Secretary of Treasury Mellon's Saturday praise of his cabinet colleague, Herbert Hoover, was given a double interpretation here today.

In the Hoover camp, Mellon's statement that Hoover comes closest of all candidates to the standard set for the presidential office, was taken as an open endorsement of Hoover candidacy and an omen of victory.

The anti-Hoover group insisted that Mellon's simultaneous praise of President Coolidge showed the secretary is clinging to the idea of a "draft-Coolidge" movement.

Among disinterested observers, however, the feeling prevailed that while Mellon asked that the Keystone state delegation be uninstructed, his praise of Hoover must aid the commerce chief materially. There was a general belief that the Pennsylvania delegation, 79 strong, will swing to Hoover, though if Hoover fails to make the grade and a Coolidge wave sets in they will be free to join it.

Senators Norris and Borah, themselves listed as republican candidates saw in the Mellon statement a potent endorsement and aid for Hoover, and some Hoover men said it would be the beginning of a move for many to get aboard the band wagon. On the other hand, Senator Watson of Indiana, also a candidate, interpreted the statement as a Coolidge rather than a Hoover endorsement.

There has been much speculation as to Mellon's position, but it is known that there have been recent negotiations between the Hoover-Mellon camps, leading up to the Saturday speech. Hence, it was generally felt here that the statement was no chance remark but rather an intentional boost for Hoover.

There was a general tendency here, among political forecasters, to believe that Hoover and Al Smith will be the nominees of their respective parties next month.

A benedictory church service followed at the Savoy chapel nearby. Then the bridal party adjourned to the adjoining Savoy hotel for luncheon.

TO SUPERVISE THE NICARAGUAN ELECTION

By MAURITZ A. HALLGREN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Washington, May 14.—Brig. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, who will supervise the Nicaraguan elections in November, was due here today to discuss the Nicaraguan political situation with President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg.

McCoy's report on political conditions is expected to have an important bearing on the state department's attitude toward the anticipated $12,000,000 loan to Nicaragua and on the possibility of the appointment of a financial dictator to administer the loan.

The views of McCoy, who has spent several months in the Central American country and who returned to the United States last week, will be weighed with those of W. W. Cumberland, who recently submitted an economic and financial report to the state department after a three-months survey of Nicaragua.

Extension of such a large credit is not considered likely, even though Cumberland recently declared Nicaraguan revenues are sufficient to support a loan as high as $15,000,000.

By MAURITZ A. HALLGREN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, May 14.—Brig Gen. Frank R. McCoy, who will supervise the Nicaraguan elections in November, was due here today to discuss the Nicaraguan political situation with President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg.

McCoy's report on political conditions is expected to have an important bearing on the state department's attitude toward the anticipated $12,000,000 loan to Nicaragua and on the possibility of the appointment of a financial dictator to administer the loan.

The views of McCoy, who has spent several months in the Central American country and who returned to the United States last week, will be weighed with those of W. W. Cumberland, who recently submitted an economic and financial report to the state department after a three-months survey of Nicaragua.

Extension of such a large credit is not considered likely, even though Cumberland recently declared Nicaraguan revenues are sufficient to support a loan as high as $15,000,000.

TECHNIQUE USED BY TRIO IS PRACTICALLY THE SAME

WERE UNMASKED, USED SAME MAKE AND MODEL OF CAR

St. Paul, May 14.—(UP)—Police authorities throughout Minnesota have expressed the opinion that three robberies in the past ten days that netted thieves a total of $70,000 in loot may be traced to the same band of thieves.

Technique used in the holdup of a Minneapolis jewelry salesman of $35,000 in gems, robbery of the Spring Valley First National Bank of $20,000 and holdup of a Crosby mail carrier of $15,000 is said by officers to be practically identical.

Three unmasked men are believed to have participated in all of the robberies. The same make and model of automobile was used.

Description of the thieves furnished by the victims was much the same in detail.

3 OF 5 HURT MAY DIE, IS THE HOSPITAL REPORT

RACE OF CARS BEGAN 2 MILES FROM CROSSING, ESPYVILLE, PA.

NEITHER DRIVER APPARENTLY SAW THE FAST APPROACHING TRAIN

Espyville, Pa., May 14.—(UP)—An impromptu race between two automobiles, which ended when both machines crashed into a Pennsylvania passenger train, today had caused the deaths of eight persons.

Three of the five who were injured may die, hospital physicians said today.

The dead are: Clare B. Hayes, 31, North Shenango, Pa., farmer, his wife, and their four sons, William Thomas, 32, brakeman, and his father, Ward Thomas, 60.

The injured: Mrs. William Thomas, 28; Mrs. Ward Thomas, 60; Donald Hayes, 19 months; Virginia Thomas, 8, Betty Thomas, 6. The two women and the baby are not expected to live.

The race began almost two miles from the railroad crossing. According to Monte Thomas, the only occupant of the two cars who escaped injury, the Hayes car passed the Thomas car and William Thomas began the chase which ended in the collision.

Thomas said the cars raced together over the last mile to the tracks.

Neither driver apparently saw the approaching train. The Hayes car struck the front of the locomotive. Simultaneously the Thomas car crashed into the tender. Bodies of the occupants of the machine were strewn along the right-of-way for more than 100 yards.

Members of the Hayes family were enroute to Mothers' Day services here while the Thomases were going to Kinsman, O. James Pilmer, Erie, engineer who was at the throttle, said the two machines were almost upon the engine before he saw them.

The dead and injured were placed aboard the train which was held at the scene more than three hours.

ANNUAL MUNICIPAL LEAGUE CONVENTION

THE fifteenth annual convention of the League of Minnesota Municipalities will be held June 13, 14, and 15 at Brainerd.

An attendance of approximately 500 municipal officials from all parts of the state is expected at this meeting. Talks on governmental subjects by experts in the field of municipal administration and open forums for discussion by the delegates will make the convention a clearing house for information on local government. The value of these meetings in furthering the better government movement in Minnesota was recognized by the Legislature when in 1923 it authorized cities and villages "to pay the annual dues in the League of Minnesota Municipalities, and the actual and necessary expenses of such delegates as such governing body may designate to attend meetings of any such League."

The details of a very interesting and instructive program are being completed and from all indications the convention will be the best in the history of the organization. A joint meeting of the Minnesota Public Utilities Conference and the Minnesota Section of the American Water Works Association is to be held in conjunction with the League Convention. The Minnesota Historical Society will hold its annual meeting in Brainerd at the same time. These group meetings are a certain indication that municipal officials are exerting a decided effort to make running a local government a business proposition wherein understanding forms a necessary background for efficiency.

Attractive entertainment features have been planned by the City of Brainerd to furnish relaxation for the delegates and their wives. The principal social event will be a banquet and dance which will be held at Breezy Point Lodge, north of Brainerd. A band concert and water carnival at Lum Park as well as other amusements have been scheduled. The local committee on arrangements is headed by Mayor F. E. Little and includes the following city officials: D. H. Fullerton, W. D. McKay, V. F. Anderson, R. H. Paine, M. Anderson, and W. J. Hall.

WOMEN'S CLOTHES

THE various participants in the play, the "Womanless Wedding," have had the opportunity now of wearing feminine garb two evenings and have had a great awakening as to weight, durability and freedom of movement in this garb.

One of the cast, counting shoes and all, wore only six pieces of light clothing and half the time was pinching himself and taking inventory to see if he was "all there."

Such breezy garments, such a freedom of movement, such airy grace is never permitted by any combination of male garments.

Nevermore will you find any man making caustic comments about what a woman wears and how she wears it. Woman has the advantage of individuality in style, in her choice of garments, in the fabric, cut and utter lightness of costume. Take a man, as example. All wear the same cut of clothes, tight vests, choking collars, warm coats, etc. It is only when he plays golf that he shows a little originality.

Full dress has been the same garment from time immemorial. It is high time that mere man started a dress reform movement.

Two School Buildings Instead of One and Why the Former is Preferable What the State High School Inspector Thinks of this Proposal

By Committee of Board of Education

There are certain facts with which every voter at the coming school election should be fully aware when he comes to cast his ballot.

1. The Junior-Senior high school plan is the accepted policy of the progressive cities in both Minnesota and elsewhere.

2. There is every indication that the Junior-Senior high school plan will universally prevail except in the smaller towns.

3. Is the voter aware that there are nearly 1100 school children of Junior-Senior high school age in the Brainerd school system today?

When the new school building projects are completed, this number will probably be considerably increased, as new modern buildings exert a powerful drawing power for new students from outlying territories.

4. If a one-building project prevails in Brainerd, and the two-building project is defeated, the Junior-Senior high school plan must either be dropped altogether or else concentrated in one location with 1000 or 1100 children, of ages from 11 years and up, attending one school. Does this appear to the voter to be a sound and reasonable educational policy for Brainerd?

5. The following letter, from the State High School Inspector E. M. Phillips, will furnish some information as to how the State Department views this matter.

State Department of Education,
State Capitol Building,
Saint Paul, Minnesota.

May 10, 1928.

Mr. G. D. LaBar, President,
Board of Education,
Brainerd, Minn.

Dear Mr. LaBar:
I have just learned that your school district is to vote on the 23d inst. upon the question of erecting two school buildings—a Junior-Senior high school building on the old site and a Junior high school building on the North side. This appears to me to be the logical solution of your building problem. The Junior-Senior type of school organization is generally accepted as the best form and, by erecting two school buildings in the two sections of your city, you bring school facilities for your seventh, eighth and ninth grades within comparatively easy reach of your entire school population.

I hope this plan will be accepted by the Brainerd school electorate. Sincerely yours, (Signed) E. M. PHILLIPS.

Trial of P. W. McGarry, former Ironton pool room proprietor, charged with first degree robbery in connection with the robbery of the First National bank of Ironton on November 9 last, opened this morning before Judge Edward Freeman of Virginia in district court here.

At noon today four jurors had been accepted, Mrs. James Anderson, Ironton, Miss Nellie Nelson, Crosby, Mrs. J. M. Atwater, Pequot, Mike Marea, of the First Assessment District, Brainerd. The four were the first to be examined.

It is expected that the complete jury will be secured this afternoon. The trial is expected to last at least two days. The prosecution will be conducted by Walter F. Wieland, assistant attorney general and Arthur J. Sullivan, county attorney. M. E. Ryan, of the firm of Ryan, Ryan, and Ryan, is McGarry's attorney.

A. H. Proctor, former cashier of the bank, now serving a term at Stillwater for the robbery will be the state's star witness, it was learned today.

Judge Freeman will preside for the remainder of the term. Judge Martin Hughes, of Hibbing, left Saturday evening for his home after presiding at the court since its opening.

The jury was completed at 3:20 P. M. and the state opened its case.

Captain and Mrs. "Billy" Fawcett, globe girdlers, who recently returning from an extended tour in foreign countries and who have seen stranger sights than ever pictured told a few of their experiences to the Lions club at its meeting last week.

Mrs. Fawcett told of some of the highlights of the tour of China and Japan, showing some of the souvenirs she brought back with her. The captain took the Lions with him on his entire trip and recalled some of the impressions he received on conditions that existed in the various countries.

Dale Sanders, Brainerd, who won the northwest building championship for scouts was an honor guest of the club. He played several selections on the bugle and told of his reaction to the announcement that he had won the contest.

Mrs. Mal Clark sang several pleasing solos. Four members of the Lions club of St. Cloud were in attendance and received details of the coming Lions convention here next month.

FLOORS STAND TEST

Nine Tons of Cement Placed in Small Space on Floor of Iron Exchange

To satisfy themselves that the Iron Exchange building was constructed in such a capable manner as to stand any severe weight on the floors, members of the Gould-Gray Co. owners of the building Friday ordered nine tons of cement to be placed on a space 11 feet six inches by 8 feet 4 inches, on the floor in the Chamber of Commerce room. The severe test on the floor proved satisfactory. The floor gave a normal three-sixteenth of an inch and when the cement was removed sprung back to its original level again, thus illustrating the engineering theory that the floor of the building is one of the strongest known in the profession.

The cement was loaned by the Hayes-Lucas Lumber Co. The test was witnessed by City Engineer R. T. Campbell.

The floors are of the turner system mushroom reinforced slab with wood floor surfacing.

GLORIOUS BETSY
NOVELIZED BY
ARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"GLORIOUS BETSY," starring Dolores Costello, is a Warner Bros. picture of this novel. Based on the play by Rida Johnson Young.

SYNOPSIS

The bewitching Betsy Patterson has been staying with her father at Sweet Springs Inn when they are called home to Baltimore to entertain Jerome Bonaparte, brother of Napoleon. While at the Inn she is secretly attracted to her French "tutor," whom she knows as La Vert. French officers, however, who visit him address him deferentially as Captain Bonaparte. When La Vert declines to accompany Betsy to Baltimore she is piqued and, throwing some gold pieces on the ground, discharges him. Elaborate preparations are under way at the Patterson home in honor of the distinguished visitor.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

Within the house Miss Massenbird fluttered and sputtered and arranged and re-arranged, giving the impression of carrying the entire weight of the affair on her shoulders. Her corded silk gown of light gray, set off with tiny lace ruchings, billowed about her in a desperate attempt to keep up with the pitter-patter of her feet that peeped, now and again from beneath the many petticoats and full skirt. Her reticule, "the indispensable," was in constant use, now, for the hour was drawing near when the arrival of the "personage" should make of the Patterson name a title to be conjured with.

With her floated Mary, a dainty figure in her delicately embroidered gown of pink and white satin.

"Yes, Auntie."

The sweeping train was edged with the palest of pink and blue embroidery work, and the bodice was partially covered by the shoulder reaching that swept about her fair neck and met the high-waisted skirt that formed the underbody for her gown, and then swept on down to the overskirt that trailed out behind her little feet.

"I still protest, Aunt Ellen," she was debating with Miss Massenbird. "I do think that the 'Welcome' should be on the outside—not on the inside of the garden."

"Stuff and nonsense," Miss Massenbird swished about, shaking her finger. "Isn't it better for Jerome Bonaparte to know he's welcome after he arrives, than before? Welcome on the outside! Mercy on us! Why, it would look as if we were bidding the whole town in. Eph, I told you to watch those candles." She turned on the liveried servant who was striving to light the sconces by carrying the small boy, Pippin, about on his shoulder.

"I've watchin' 'em, Miz Ellen," Eph grinned back with high excitement. "Look at you," he scooped up at the small figure perched on his shoulder, "you drop a hunk o' taller in my eyes."

"Yah, that'll dry up the chalk in it," the little black figure returned jauntily, reaching out his long taper and touching into activity the candles on the walls.

"Serves you right, Ephraim," Miss Massenbird shook her head. "I've told you a dozen times to put that good-for-nothing down and get a ladder, but you're too lazy— Oh, there's Betsy Patterson again with her everlasting love song. And I know she's not dressed yet." Miss Massenbird turned, a frown on her face.

From the next room came the tinkling sounds of a spinnet, and a soft, clear voice gently taking up the words of "The Maid of Athens."

"I declare, Mary, I don't know what's come over the child," Miss Massenbird shook her head. "Ever since we came up from the Springs she's been mooning about. One moment her spirits are so high there's no abiding her. The next moment strumming on the spinnet that new love song of Lord Byron's, which, I protest, is too amorous for a modest girl to sing."

LIL' BERTIE PUTS
"PICKLES" ON TOP

Reviews Last Rehearsal of High School Operetta Being Presented This Evening

AT PARK THEATRE

Musical Comedy is a Top-Hole Production, Music is Great.

Bert Says

Well, I've been asked to express my views on musical productions in general and "Pickles" in particular. So I have sallied forth to crystallize some rather indefinite opinions on the subject.

When Lil' Bertie popped into the theatre yesterday he accepted an awful shock. I got there just in time for the second act which represents a gypsy camp. Well I've seen this gypsy racket worked enough so I'm in favor of the Child Labor Amendment but this tableau represented to me "Why Everyone Should Play Gypsy at Least Once." I created a sign once which said "Lights and Shadows Make Beauty" but I was only half right. I got new standards—I won't be satisfied with nothing less as lights, shadows, color and music, and them all in harmony!

Reports say that there are a few tickets left—I notice a sign down at Dunn's still announcing "tickets for sale" but I don't see how this can be so. Supposing all these ticket-sellers were as enthusiastic about this show which I have seen part of once why they could sell at least five tickets to a night watchman. And if I could show you people about ten minutes' worth of this musical comedy which has the movies gasping for breath why you positively wouldn't be letting it get by.

And concerning music—I should have said this sooner! The music in the show is supremely better than the alleged music in any other cock-eyed exhibit I've seen in Brainerd.

I suppose I have sopped up some of the general sales-resistance of the days because I have skipped over lots of the potent stuff about hot costumes just as you have I imagine. However it isn't as thick as so much. This costume holler is a weak whistle. These costumes put the thing securely among the uppers—and how!

What I mean to say is that this musical comedy, "Pickles" is a top-hole production which you could enjoy seeing.

"I have excellent results on my

"I've watchin' 'em, Miz Ellen," Eph grinned back with high excitement. "Look at you," he scowled up at the small figure perched on his shoulder, "you drop a hunk o' taller in my eyes." "Yah, that'll dry up the chalk in it," the little black figure returned jauntily, reaching out his long taper and touching into acitivity the candles on the walls. "Serve you right, Ephraim," Miss Massenbird shook her head. "I've told you a dozen times to put that good-for-nothing down and get a ladder, but you're too lazy—Oh, there's Betsy Patterson again with her everlasting love song. And I know she's not dressed yet." Miss Massenbird turned, a frown on her face.

From the next room came the tinkling sounds of a spinnet, and a soft, clear voice gently taking up the words of "The Maid of Athens."

"I declare, Mary, I don't know what's come over the child," Miss Massenbird shook her head. "Ever since we came up from the Springs she's been mooning about. One moment her spirits are so high there's no abiding her. The next moment strumming on the spinnet that new love song of Lord Byron's, which, I protest, is too amorous for a modest girl to sing."

"Oh, now, Auntie," Mary do murred.

"At least with so much expression," Miss Massenbird's lips were drawn into a thin line.

As they listened, the music welled louder and louder; the song swelled out passionately; a depth of longing, a desire of love and sorrow filled the room.

"Betsy! Betsy Patterson!" Miss Massenbird called, loud enough to drown out the sentimental words. "Yes, Auntie," came the answer. The music stopped abruptly.

"Am I the only person concerned in this reception?" Miss Massenbird demanded acidly. "It's about time you took a hand, for not a thing have you done this blessed hour past but strum on that spinnet, and I know you are not dressed." But her words were lost in the sound of the spinnet and the voice that once more took up the song as she hurried into the kitchen.

As she disappeared Betsy thrust her head around the doorway and, seeing the coast clear, entered.

"Oh, Betsy! Betsy!" Mary ran to her cousin and kissed her excitedly. "Just think of it! It's come at last—the very day we've been looking forward to for so long—the day we're to see the brother of Napoleon. Aren't you so thrilled?"

"I don't know," Betsy returned languidly, pushing the ruffle of her pelignoni back from her throat. "I wonder if everyone's like I am. I mean that I long for a thing with all my heart, and when I get it, I can't see why I cared. And I long for something else, much more—and I get that—and it's just the same—not a bit what I wanted. And so on, and so on. That's life, I suppose," she sighed, and patted her cousin's hand.

"Why, you're crying!" Mary exclaimed, and put her arms about her cousin's neck. "I do believe it's for the lost La Vert."

"Mary!" Betsy turned haughtily. "Haven't I forbidden you to speak of him to me? Tears in my eyes for that man! Fire would become them better!"

"Why Betsy," Mary drew back and stared at her companion. "I never knew you to feel so bitter towards anyone."

"Never had I such cause," Betsy returned angrily. "Think of it, Mary. I, Betsy Patterson, with the best blood of America at my feet, to be flouted and scorned by a mere nothing of a French tutor! It is unbearable! I cannot sleep for thinking of it. Not because of him—but the insult. Oh, it's maddening to think that I should, listen, Mary, I haven't told anyone this before, but I asked him, actually asked him, to sit in the coach with me instead of riding."

"Not your French tutor!" Mary gasped.

"Yes!" And you saw how he refused my invitation—unmoved. Oh, a husband could not have declined with more unconcerned indifference."

"But you returned like a wife, Betsy," Mary tried to comfort her. "Dismissed him from your service and asked him never to dare show his face in Baltimore."

"I know I told him that, but I didn't think the fool would obey me," Betsy wrinkled her nose in disdain.

"How do you know he has?" Mary asked softly. "How do you know he isn't in Baltimore this very minute?"

"Mary! What do you mean?" Betsy demanded, shaking her cousin by the shoulders.

"Oh, nothing only—" she smiled, "only Mr. Preston says he's with Captain Bonaparte."

"With Captain Bonaparte!" Betsy exclaimed. "In what capacity? Will he be here? Is he in love?" "Monsieur La Vert?"

"No, his master!" Betsy bit her lip thoughtfully. Then she laughed. "That's what I'll do. I'll make Captain Bonaparte fall in love with me. I'll do it with my pretty dress—with nonsense and flattery. That's how I'll capture the man, she answered the questioning look in Mary's eyes. "Why, you poor, little innocent, that's how I'll marry the master to get revenge on the man! Then Monsieur La Vert will be at my command—to come here, and go there—to do this and take that! Don't you see? It's all so simple. O, I'll make him regret the day he flouted Betty Patterson!"

"Yes, but—but," Mary stammered. "Captain Bonaparte is engaged to marry the Princess of Wurttemberg. Won't that complicate matters a little?" "A court affair," Betsy sniffed contemptuously. "To please the great Napoleon! I'd wager Captain Bonaparte has never so much as set eyes on her. Besides, a heart once affronted considers nothing, but flies to its revenge, and this is mine. When all the lamps are lighted it'll be quite a fairland, and he, the Fairy Prince, will come walking through the archway there."

LIL' BERTIE PUTS "PICKLES" ON TOP

Reviews Last Rehearsal of High School Operetta Being Presented This Evening

AT PARK THEATRE

Musical Comedy is a Top-Hole Production. Music is Great.

Bert Says

Well, I've been asked to express my views on musical productions in general and "Pickles" in particular. So I have sallied forth to crystallize some rather indefinite opinions on the subject.

When Lil' Bertie popped into the theatre yesterday he accepted an awful shock. I got there just in time for the second act which represents a gypsy camp. Well I've seen this gypsy racket worked enough so I'm in favor of the Child Labor Amendment but this tableau represented to me "Why Everyone Should Play Gypsy at Least Once." I created a sign once which said "Lights and Shadows Make Beauty" but I was only half right. I got new standards—I won't be satisfied with nothing less as lights, shadows, color and music, and them all in harmony!

Reports say that there are a few tickets left—I notice a sign down at Dunn's still announcing "tickets for sale" but I don't see how this can be so. Supposing all these ticket-sellers were as enthusiastic about this show which I have seen part of once why they could sell at least five tickets to a night watchman. And if I could show you people about ten minutes' worth of this musical comedy which has the movies gasping for breath why you positively wouldn't be letting it get by.

And concerning music—I should have said this sooner! The music in the show is supremely better than the alleged music in any other cock-eyed exhibit I've seen in Brainerd.

I suppose I have sopped up some of the general sales-resistance of the days because I have skipped over lots of the potent stuff about hot costumes just as you have I imagine. However it isn't as thick as so much. This costume holler is a weak whistle. These costumes put the thing securely among the uppers—and how!

What I mean to say is that this musical comedy, "Pickles" is a top-hole production which you could enjoy seeing.

"I have excellent results on my profecies so far and I would hate to lose out on this—and so I'm not taking many chances!

Prophetically yours,
Lil' Bertie.

Editor's Note—"Pickles" in Old Vienna, high school operetta, is to be presented at the Park Theatre this evening, starting at 8 o'clock.

JURY IS DISMISSED IN P. J. LONG CASE

Vote Stood 8 to 4 on Final Ballot
Taken at 5:45 P. M. Saturday.
Discharged at 6 P. M.

FRED A. HANSON FOREMAN

Further Disposition of Case Now
Rests in Hands of Attorney
General's Office

After 24 hours of disagreement, the jury deliberating the case of P. J. Long, involving charges of receiving stolen property, such money alleged having been embezzled by A. H. Proctor from the First National bank of Ironton, which occurred November 9 last year, was discharged at 6 P. M. Saturday by Judge Martin Hughes.

At 11 o'clock on Saturday morning the jury had reported its inability to reach an agreement, that they stood 6 to 6, up to 9 A. M. and then had switched 8 to 4.

The judge had instructed the foreman, Fred A. Hanson, not to tell what these figures represented, whether the majority vote was for or against acquittal. The judge stated that the jurors should listen to the arguments in their jury room, weigh them carefully, but no member of the jury is obliged to give up his conscientious opinion unless based on the testimony.

The judge said it was not customary to discharge a jury that had only been out 17 hours, and sent them back to the jury room.

At 5:30 P. M. Saturday the jury again reported to the judge that they were unable to agree, the foreman stating they still stood 8 to 4. Asked if another ballot might effect a change, various jurors were polled and answered. They retired to take another ballot.

At 6 P. M. they made their final report of disagreement, the poll remaining 8 to 4. The court refused to permit the jurors to divulge whether the majority vote was for or against acquittal. They were then discharged.

Disposition of the case against Long, charged with receiving $12,000 stolen property alleged to have been entrusted to him by A. H. Proctor, former cashier of the Ironton bank, who is now serving one up to 10 years at Stillwater for his participation in the theft, now rests with the attorney general's office, at the request of County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan.

Bonds of $5,000 of Long continue and he remains at liberty. The trial lasted two days. The jury was chosen in a little over half a day. The state presented its case with six witnesses, Proctor, two bank officials, T. S. Nyhus and Ernest Olson, Sheriff Claus A. Theorin, Deputy Sheriff Charles W. Oberg, Assistant Attorney General Walter F. Wieland, in a day. The defense closed with the defendant giving testimony and seven character witnesses testifying briefly.

Arguments in the case were made by Assistant Attorney General Chester Wilson for the state, and Mr. Murphy of Murphy and Cook for the defendant.

CROSBY-IRONTON WINS FIRST PLACE AT MEET, AITKIN SECOND

Brainerd took third place at the district track meet held at Little Falls Saturday afternoon. Six schools—Brainerd, Crosby-Ironton, Aitkin, Little Falls, Wadena and Staples high schools—competed.

Crosby-Ironton upset the dope and carried off first honors. They had the largest representation of track men. Aitkin, winning second place, was expected to take the meet because of its individual stars, Stevens and Sanford, who excelled in field events and the dashes.

The point getters for Brainerd were Captain Joe Greener, who took first in the 440-yard dash. His time was 54 and 1-5 seconds, making a new district mark. Greener also ran the 440-yard in the medley race, in which Brainerd took second.

Brusser was Brainerd's high point man when he captured first in both of the hurdle races. Brusser also ran in the half mile relay, being the anchor man.

Gaboul took third in the 100-yard dash and also ran this same race in the medley.

Downie took third in the 220-yard dash and ran in the medley and half mile relay.

Storm took third in the half mile race and also ran in the half mile relay.

Brainerd did not place in any of the field events and as a result the score was held down. Brainerd, however, took second in both of the relay races. The half mile relay was made up of Downie, Storm, McNamara and Brusser.

The men that made up the medley relay were Downie, Gaboul, McNamara and Greener.

Stevens of Aitkin made a new record in the broad jump when he made 21 feet and 11 and a half inches. It was announced as a new state record.

Competition was very strong in the district meet this year. In some events what would have taken first place last year, did not even score this year. Examples of this was in the broad jump, shot put, javelin and the dashes. Crosby-Ironton's well balanced team scored enough on its seconds and thirds, and first in the relay to win the meet.

The following Brainerd men made the trip to Little Falls: Captain Joe Greener, Donald McNamara, Milford Downie, David Weber, John Gaboul, Kenneth Storm, Orville Harrington, Walter Hautala, Charles Welliver, Ellwood Johnson, Winel Barnes and Floyd Brusser. Joe Greener was elected captain of this year's track team.

HAGEN LOSES MATCH SUNDAY TO AUBREY BOOMER

LARGEST GALLERY IN FRANCE, 3,000, FOLLOWS GOLF GAME

HAGEN'S PUTTER FAILED HIM AT THE CRITICAL MOMENTS

St. Cloud, France, May 14.—(UP)—Walter Hagen's golf invasion of Europe was marked with another defeat today, the winner of the British Open championship having lost a 36-hole match yesterday to Aubrey Boomer, St. Cloud professional, 3 up and 2 to play.

The largest gallery ever to see a golf match in France, 3,000, followed the two. Hagen's unfamiliarity with the difficult course contributed to his downfall, but the principal reason he lost was because his putter failed him at critical moments.

Boomer shot the first 18 holes in 79, one under par, and finished 5 up on Hagen who took a 75. Hagen played better golf in the afternoon, cutting Boomer's lead to three holes on the first nine of the second round, but he could not overtake the St. Cloud pro whose knowledge of the course helped him considerably.

Boomer clinched the match on the fourteenth hole in the afternoon when Hagen landed in the rough and had difficulty getting out.

Two days after his arrival in England Hagen lost a 72-hole match to Archie Compston, 18 up and 17 to play.

Hagen's next match will be at Berlin where he meets Percy Arliss, the British professional.

PETE LATZO IN TUNEUP BOUT WITH BING CONLEY

New York, May 14.—(U.P.)—Pete Latzo of Scranton, Pa., former welterweight champion, who has been matched to meet Tommy Loughran in a light-heavyweight title bout at Ebbets field May 30, will engage in a tuneup bout at the St. Nicholas arena tonight, meeting Bing Conley of the Pacific coast in a 10-round bout.

15 ROUND BOUT AT N. Y. POLO GROUNDS

PROMISES TO ATTRACT CROWD OF 50,000 CUSTOMERS AT NEW YORK

TEX RICKARD, WHO OUTBID JIM MULLEN FOR FIGHT, EXPECTS $250,000 GATE

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, May 14.—Sammy Mandell will defend his lightweight title against Jimmy (Baby Face) McLarnin, Pacific coast challenger, in a 15-round bout at the Polo Grounds Thursday night.

Opening the outdoor boxing season, the bout promises to attract a crowd of more than 50,000 and a gate of more than $250,000. Tex Rickard, who outbid Jim Mullen, Chicago, for the bout after the latter had Mandell signed, will place 77,000 tickets on sale.

The bout will bring to New York the first lightweight championship fight in five years, since Benny Leonard defended his title against Lew Tendler at the Polo Grounds in 1923.

Since winning the title from Rocky Kansas in a tame 10-round bout at Comiskey Park, Chicago, in the first legitimate fight in Illinois in 25 years on July 3, 1926, the Rockford flash has defended his laurels only once, defeating Phil McGraw in a 10-round bout at Detroit last July.

Until Jimmy McLarnin came out of the west and defeated Sid Terris in one round, it was the popular belief that Terris was the "uncrowned king of the lightweights."

Mandell outpointed Terris in a fast 15-round bout in the old Garden three years ago before he won the title but Sammy never would consent to another meeting with the "Ghost of the Ghetto."

McLarnin's reputation and tremendous popularity in the east is constructed in one single punch—the right-hand blow that sent Terris sprawling into the resin dust in less than a minute of fighting.

The Irish lad—he's only 22 and looks 18—never has been knocked out, and it is important to note that he has knocked out the only fighter who ever stopped Mandell, Joey Sangor.

Sangor scored a technical knockout over Mandell in seven rounds in 1923, but in 1926 he was stopped cold in three rounds by McLarnin.

The betting odds favor Mandell at 7 to 5, but are likely to dwindle to even money. McLarnin's supporters are offering 1 to 5 Jimmy wins by a knockout.

JOE GREENER IN DISTRICT RECORD 440 YARD DASH

STEVENS MAKES NEW STATE RECORD IN BROAD JUMP

CROSBY-IRONTON WINS FIRST PLACE AT MEET, AITKIN SECOND

Brainerd took third place at the district track meet held at Little Falls Saturday afternoon. Six schools—Brainerd, Crosby-Ironton, Aitkin, Little Falls, Wadena and Staples high schools—competed.

Crosby-Ironton upset the dope and carried off first honors. They had the largest representation of track men. Aitkin, winning second place, was expected to take the meet because of its individual stars, Stevens and Sanford, who excelled in field events and the dashes.

The point getters for Brainerd were Captain Joe Greener, who took first in the 440-yard dash. His time was 54 and 1-5 seconds, making a new district mark. Greener also ran the 440-yard in the medley race, in which Brainerd took second.

Bruseau was Brainerd's high point man when he captured first in both of the hurdle races. Bruseau also ran in the half mile relay, being the anchor man.

Gabiou took third in the 100-yard dash and also ran this same race in the medley.

Downie took third in the 220-yard dash and ran in the medley and half mile relay.

Storm took third in the half mile race and also ran in the half mile relay.

Brainerd did not place in any of the field events and as a result the score was held down. Brainerd, however, took second in both of the relay races. The half mile relay was made up of Downie, Storm, McNamara and Bruseau.

The men that made up the medley relay were Downie, Gabiou, McNamara and Greener.

Stevens of Aitkin made a new record in the broad jump when he made 21 feet and 11 and a half inches. It was announced as a new state record.

Competition was very strong in the district meet this year. In some events what would have taken first place last year, did not even score this year. Examples of this was in the broad jump, shot put, javelin and the dashes. Crosby-Ironton's well balanced team scored enough on its seconds and thirds, and first in the relay to win the meet.

The following Brainerd men made the trip to Little Falls: Captain Joe Greener, Donald McNamara, Milford Downie, David Weber, John Gabiou, Kenneth Storm, Orville Harrington, Walter Hautala, Charles Welliver, Ellwood Johnson, Winel Barnes and Floyd Bruseau. Joe Greener was elected captain of this year's track team.

LARGEST GALLERY IN FRANCE, 3,000, FOLLOWS GOLF GAME

HAGEN'S PUTTER FAILED HIM AT THE CRITICAL MOMENTS

St. Cloud, France, May 14.—(UP)—Walter Hagen's golf invasion of Europe was marked with another defeat today, the winner of the British Open championship having lost a 36-hole match yesterday to Aubrey Boomer, St. Cloud professional, 3 up and 2 to play.

The largest gallery ever to see a golf match in France, 3,000, followed the two Hagen's unfamiliarity with the difficult course contributed to his downfall, but the principal reason he lost was because his putter failed him at critical moments.

Boomer shot the first 18 holes in 70, one under par, and finished 5 up on Hagen who took a 75. Hagen played better golf in the afternoon, cutting Boomer's lead to three holes on the first nine of the second round, but he could not overtake the St. Cloud pro whose knowledge of the course helped him considerably.

Boomer clinched the match on the fourteenth hole in the afternoon when Hagen landed in the rough and had difficulty getting out.

Two days after his arrival in England Hagen lost a 72-hole match to Archie Compston, 18 up and 17 to play.

Hagen's next match will be at Berlin where he meets Percy Arliss, the British professional.

PETE LATZO IN TUNEUP BOUT WITH BING CONLEY

New York, May 14.—(U.P.)—Pete Latzo of Scranton, Pa., former welterweight champion, who has been matched to meet Tommy Loughran in a light-heavyweight title bout at Ebbets field May 30, will engage in a tuneup bout at the St. Nicholas arena tonight, meeting Bing Conley of the Pacific coast in a 10-round bout.

15 ROUND BOUT AT N. Y. POLO GROUNDS

PROMISES TO ATTRACT CROWD OF 50,000 CUSTOMERS AT NEW YORK

TEX RICKARD, WHO OUTBID JIM MULLEN FOR FIGHT, EXPECTS $250,000 GATE

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, May 14.—Sammy Mandell will defend his lightweight title against Jimmy (Baby Face) McLarnin, Pacific coast challenger, in a 15-round bout at the Polo Grounds Thursday night.

Opening the outdoor boxing season, the bout promises to attract a crowd of more than 50,000 and a gate of more than $250,000. Tex Rickard, who outbid Jim Mullen, Chicago, for the bout after the latter had Mandell signed, will place 77,000 tickets on sale.

The bout will bring to New York the first lightweight championship fight in five years, since Benny Leonard defended his title against Lew Tendler at the Polo Grounds in 1923.

Since winning the title from Rocky Kansas in a tame 10-round bout at Comiskey Park, Chicago, in the first legalized fight in Illinois in 25 years on July 3, 1926, the Rockford flash has defended his laurels only once, defeating Phil McGraw in a 10-round bout at Detroit last July.

Until Jimmy McLarnin came out of the west and defeated Sid Terris in one round, it was the popular belief that Terris was the "uncrowned king of the lightweights."

Mandell outpointed Terris in a fast 15-round bout in the old Garden three years ago before he won the title but Sammy never would consent to another meeting with the "Ghost of the Ghetto."

McLarnin's reputation and tremendous popularity in the east is constructed in one single punch—the right-hand blow that sent Terris sprawling into the resin dust in less than a minute of fighting.

The Irish lad—he's only 22 and looks 18—never has been knocked out, and it is important to note that he has knocked out the only fighter who ever stopped Mandell, Joey Sangor.

Sangor scored a technical knockout over Mandell in seven rounds in 1923, but in 1926 he was stopped cold in three rounds by McLarnin.

The betting odds favor Mandell at 7 to 5, but are likely to dwindle to even money. McLarnin's supporters are offering 1 to 5 Jimmy wins by a knockout.
